LAND TRANSFER SYSTEM.

Drew of Kaufman Pinds Objections to the Torrens Plan.

TEN SPECIFICATIONS AGAINST 1T.

Extravagance, Corporate Power, No. Saving to the People, No Necessity for It, Inequitable.

Austin, Texas, March 13.-Representative Drew of Kaufman county, a member of the joint committee to consider the Torrens system of land transfers by certificate, offers the following as his opinion on the system and its effects:

Here are what appear to me to be some of the effects that would follow the enactment into law of the Torrens lang registration system in Texas,

I. It would create two more county officials, to be provided with liberal (not to say extravagant) salaries, viz.: A registrar of deeds and an examiner of titles, the last of which should be a first-class land lawyer. The people would be required to pay two more men about twice as large a sallives at any private business they could follow. It will not do to say that we would get along without the registrar of deeds county clerks, who at present record the deeds, etc., to perform the duties required of such registrar. Our county clerks now after, without charming them, with the busilarge a fee to be paid by the men whose title consists of three transfers from the State as by the one whose title consists of 100 transfers; so also all the fees provided for registering the several instruments are arbitrary and unjust. Whereas, under the present system the fees charged all depresent system the fees charged all de-pend upon the amount of work necessary ty be done, under the Torrens system it must be $3 or $5 or $8, no matter what the length of it. It may be said that we might adont a lower scale of charges or base them on different lengths of instrument. No matter what may be said along this line, you know you could never get the salary of the registrar and examiner down to what they could earn at a private business of their own, be it abstracting or anything class.

7. The Torrens system would not prevent land litigation. The registrar, just as the county clerk now does, would have to record all instruments presented to him when properly authenticated; and his certificate can only show the condition of the title; it can not effect any one's interest, nor properly authenticated; and his certificate can only shew the condition of the title it can not shew the condition of the title it can not show the condition of the title it can not show the condition of the title it can not show the condition of the title it can not be so easily adjusted and adonted to our system of land surveying and description as it is to the land system of lillinois, where everything is divided into townships, ranges and sections, etc.

9. It would cause great additional expense to landowners in recording feee and certificates in this way. The registrar could certify to only what the records of his office shows and many of our titles come down through the probate court, and the district court, the proceedings of which are had and entered of record in the office of the county eleck and the district clerk. Now, in 96 cases out of 109, when the tiffee court of the country where the lands are situated, certified copies of the proceedings had in said courts are not recorded in the deed records and consequently would not appear in the registrar's office then the landowner would be forced to about $5,$ and then have to pay the new officer, the registrar's office is stilly registered and the landowner would be forced to about $5,$ and then have to pay the new officer, the registrar's office is stilly registered and the landowner has paid his fees, from $17 in $10, or more, for this certified copies of such company so offending to appear you of the provisions of this set, and any suite recorded in said registrar's office is stilly registered and the landowner has paid his fees, from $17 in $10, or more, for this certified copies of such company and any officer, the registrar's office is stilly registered and the landowner has paid his fees, from $17 in $10, or more, for this certified copies of such company and any officer, the registrar's office is stilly registered and the landowner has paid his fees, from $17 in $10, or more, for this certified to pic volumes the registrar would not be contract,
